St. John's Reformed Church,

SINKING SPRING, PA.

During the year 1792 the following men, members of the Reformed Church, united themselves into an organization for the establishing of the Church :

Christian Ruth,
Francis Krick,
John Shoup,
John Hill,
Peter Palm,
Ulrich Hauder,
John Gernant,

Joseph Wanner,
David Gring,
John Matz,
William Gaul,
George Ruth,
Jacob Ludwig,
John Sharman.

Having formed the organization they proceeded to the erection of the church edifice. The original building, which is still standing, was 48 feet wide and 56 feet long. The corner-stone found in the south-east corner of the church, was laid with appropriate services on Ascension Day, May 3, 1794. The officiating minister was Rev. Philip R. Pauli, the pastor. In the year 1817 a large pipe organ was placed in the church. This organ was built by Openhauser, of Reading, Pa. On the top, facing the front, was perched a large golden eagle, overshadowing it with its wings. On each side were figures of gilded angels, each blowing a trumpet. These figures are still retained on the new organ. Thus far the church had been without a steeple and a bell. Hence in 1851 the congregation appointed a committee, consisting of David Marshall, George Ruth and David Gring, who began to receive subscriptions, and proceeded to the erection of a tower. The tower is 16 feet square at its base, and 151 feet high. The dedicatory services were held October 16, 1852. Rev. Willam Pauli, pastor of the congregation, officiating. The bell weighed 1473 pounds. This bell having become damaged, it was replaced by another weighing 1592 pounds, in September, 1881. In the year 1884, the congregation decided to remodel the church building and make proper provision for the Sunday School. The following were appointed as the building committee : Henry B. Krick, James Ruth and Jacob Zinn. The improvements resulted in the erection of a chapel, attached to the east side of the main church building, 49 by 30 feet, and 19 feet high.

The Church was chartered January 8, 1898, under the name of "The Saint John's Reformed Church of Sinking Spring, Pennsylvania." The following were the Consistory :

Jacob B. Blatt,
William Guldin,
George W. Gring,
Frank J. Hill,
Samuel B. Keppel,

John J. K. Gittelman,
James L. Freeman,
Aaron F. Marks,
Francis B. Krick,
James R. Kegerreis.

❧ HISTORY OF THE CHURCH. ❧

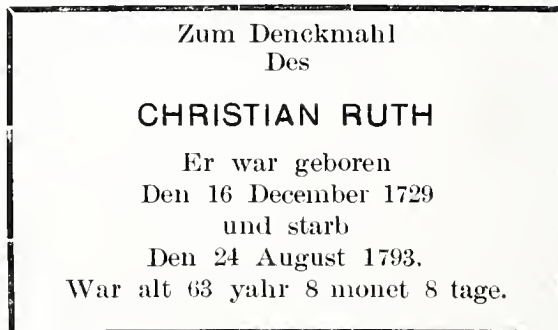

SURROUNDINGS.

The surroundings of the village of Sinking Spring, wherein St. John's Church is located, are magnificent beyond description. With the beautiful farms in its immediate vicinity, and the rolling landscape both East and West, terminating in the mountains overshadowing the city of Reading, on the East, and Cushon Hill on the South-West, the village is one of the finest in Berks County. Once the home of the Red man of the forest, concerning whom many a tale is still in the minds of the oldest citizens, and related to the generation of the present day, the land on which this town is located, and the soil now cultivated by our thrifty farmers, was regarded by our early ancestors as a suitable place for habitation. Hence, as early as about 1728, or about one hundred and sixty years ago, the first settlements began to be made. Being that the Indians who roamed over these parts did not lay any stress on the cultivation of the soil, but lived chiefly by hunting and fishing, the land was in a wild state. The early settlers, however, having come from Holland and the Palatinate, where they had been taught from youth up the importance of the cultivation of the soil, immediately began changing the wigwam into a log cabin, and the land overgrown with wildness they changed into fields of corn and wheat. Among these settlers were the ancestors of the Ruths, Kricks, Evens and others, whose descendants are still noted families in Spring township. The land on which the town of Sinking Spring is located was once the sole property of the Ruth family, Jacob Lambert and Catharine Sohl, who also erected the first buildings. The name of the town is derived from a singular spring in the immediate vicinity, which is of a periodic flow, at times sinking out of sight entirely.

LOCATION OF THE CHURCH.

The church building is located in the western part of the town, on the Berks and Dauphin turnpike, and on the present burial ground. The original burial ground was in the eastern part of the town and held in common by different denominations, though some farmers had their own grave-yards on their farms. On this ancient burial place, therefore, can be found the graves of people of different creeds, whose bodies are resting side by side. Though they may have had conflicting views on religion while living, the grave-yard has become their common lot, emblematic of every soul appearing before the same judgment bar of God. But some time previous to the erection of the church edifice, the Reformed people desiring their own grave-yard, secured the land whereon the church now stands for their burial place. This ground, originally one and one-half acres in area, was donated by will by the now Sainted Christian Ruth, October 30, 1793. A more suitable place for the burial of their beloved dead could not well be found. Being a place of considerable height above the level of the sea, and gradually declining toward the South-east, the ground is always dry, affording an excellent place for sepulchre. Among the first buried here was the donor himself, Christian Ruth, who had made the following will: "I give and devise one acre and a half of land, as will be most suitable for the use of a new Reformed church and burial ground, as is already commenced, to the congregation and to their heirs and successors forever." Said will was probated on the 30th day of October, 1793.

Christian Ruth's grave and that of his wife can be found side by side to the west of the church building. Both graves are in a well preserved state. As was customary among Christians, and is still adhered to, both these graves are marked by tombstones bearing an epitaph. The inscription upon the grave-stone of Father Ruth reads as follows:

The epitaph on Mrs. Ruth's stone is as follows :

Hier ruhet der entsalte Leichnam von

ORGANIZATION.

It was during 1792 that the following Christian men, already members of the Reformed church, united themselves into an organization for the establishing of a church, where they and their descendants might worship the God of their forefathers :

Christian Ruth,
 Franeis Krick,
 John Shoup,
 John Hill,
 Peter Palm.

Ulrich Hauder,
 John Gernant,
 Joseph Wanner,
 David Gring,

John Matz,
 William Gaul,
 George Ruth,
 Jacob Ludwig,
 John Sharman.

Having formed an organization, these devout men proceeded to the erection of a church edifice, which resulted in the finest of its kind in this section of Eastern Pennsylvania. Among the churches already existing were Hains, in Lower Heidelberg township; Bern, in Bern township, and Allegheny, in Brecknock township. Adam Krauser, of Reading, whose name was carved upon the inside of the canopy of the original pulpit, which was in the form of a wine glass, was chosen as architect and builder. The inscription as found upon the pulpit, read as follows: "Adam Krauser, inventor and executor of this building." The church was built of brick made by the members themselves. The clay from which the brick were made was taken from the farm land now owned by Jacob Krick. The stones for the foundation wall were quarried on land near by, and the foundation of the building was dug by the members themselves. The material for the construction of the building was conveyed to the grounds free of charge. The lumber was secured at Reading. The boards not having been seasoned, were stored into a temporary building erected for this purpose, near the site where the church now stands, for proper seasoning. In this building fire was kept day and night. In order that the lumber might not be destroyed in case the fire should become unmanageable, young men kept watch day and night. The fire, however, left its mark, for by the time the lumber was sufficiently dry for use, it had the appearance of charcoal; hence in the proportion that the lumber turned to its natural color by handling, in that proportion the hands and faces of the carpenters changed temporarily from white to black. The original building, which is still standing, was 48 feet wide and 56 feet long. It is in this original part of the present structure that the congregation is still worshipping. The corner-stone found in the South-east corner of the church, was laid with appropriate services on Ascension Day, May 3, 1794. The officiating minister was Rev. Philip R. Pauli, who served the congregation twenty-one years. Into this corner-stone were placed the elements of the Lord's Sacraments, a copy of the Word of God, the Heidelberg catechism, which is the rule of faith of the Reformed Church, the names of the original founders of the congregation, and the Constitution of the Church, which reads as follows:

CONSTITUTION

... OF ...

THE ST. JOHN'S REFORMED CHURCH, SINKING SPRING, PA.

Jesus Christ, the same yesterday and to-day and forever, This is the foundation upon which we build and declare the following articles, the Rules whereby we are to be governed.

ARTICLE I.

That we accept the Holy Bible containing the Old and New Testament as the Word of God and as it is promulgated in the Heidelberg Catechism of the Reformed Church.

ARTICLE II.

That in our faith and life we will humbly submit ourselves to the truth as revealed in the Word of God and at all times be subservient to its teaching.

ARTICLE III.

That the building which we in common erect shall be set apart and consecrated only to the preaching of God's Word, the Sacraments and prayer.

ARTICLE IV.

That no minister shall serve this congregation nor be received as minister by said congregation except his faith and character is in accordance with the Word of God, as prescribed in the Heidelberg Catechism of the Reformed Church, being examined, ordained, and declared and acknowledged such by the Reformed Church.

ARTICLE V.

That the Fourth Article shall be strictly adhered to in ordinary worship, but in case of death every member shall have the privilege to procure a minister according to their desire if his teaching is not contrary to the Word of God, but on no other occasion.

ARTICLE VI.

If there should arise a division concerning the aforesaid Articles as to their contents then it shall not be for any party to compromise or settle such division, but there shall be appointed three ministers and six lay-members of good moral Christian character, who shall adjust such division.

ARTICLE VII.

Any member violating the aforesaid articles after being duly admonished in a Christian spirit, who still resists, shall forfeit his or her membership and all claims to the property. This solemn transaction was made on the third day of May, in the year of our Lord 1794, to be enclosed in a corner-stone as the foundation of our Evangelical Reformed Church.

Now, worthy friends, with this document will be made known unto you and given as a memento to you and to your children. Children, a house built, dedicated and consecrated to the Triune God. Now, beloved children, should you ever again see this document may you then say: This is the work of our forefathers. Thus will we continue to establish and maintain churches and schools that many sheep may be gathered in the great fold of which Christ is the Shepherd. May the grace, goodness and mercy of the Lord our God continue to bless the furtherance of His house of worship so that we can say at the end, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give to me at that day." Undersigned by the Building Committee, Elders, Deacons and Lay-Members of this congregation, do hereby bequeath this document to their children and children's children and their generation to be unalterable or anything added thereunto, as their code of instruction and guide.

May 3, 1794.

The architecture was of the most modern nature and afforded an ornament to the town. The church was a two-story building with windows above and below the galleries. There were three entrances, one on the East, another on the South, and a third on the West. The floor was of brick, laid in ornamental figures, and the woodwork on the inside was beautifully carved. The church was dedicated in the name of the Triune God as the St. John's Evangelical Presbyterian Reformed Church. The name St. John was derived from the apostle St. John, the disciple of love, whose doctrine of love has become the doctrine of the Reformed Church. The word Evangelical relates here to the four evangelists, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, who formed the synoptics of the New Testament, describing the life of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ in the flesh, His teaching and activities. The term Presbyterian has reference to the form of government as exercised in the Reformed Church, which government is vested in the hands of the ministers and elders. Reformed is a word of wide significance. It means, in general, reformed from the fallacies of the Roman Catholic Church. It stands independent from every other denomination, and is one of the most liberal in its views of all the Protestant churches. Realizing this fact, the founders of this church felt proud to insert this term into their constitution as their distinguishing name.

During the course of the erection of the building the best feelings prevailed among the members. Differences of opinion which so often creates controversies proving detrimental to the growth and development of the Church and her spirituality, were unknown. As a proof of the fraternal feeling then prevailing, we would quote the fact that the church building was already in erection before the will of Christian Ruth was probated. Great confidence prevailed. The veracity and the honesty of the brethren were never questioned among them. Business transactions were seldom recorded. Money was frequently loaned without keeping a written account of the same, memory being the only record. If, however, an account was kept for the aiding of memory, it was not unfrequently chalked upon the window-frames and upon the joists of their houses. Liberality was a unique quality of these people. It is said that the boarding for the workmen was gratuitously furnished by Ulrich Hauder, one of the original founders of the Church, whilst George Ruth dug a well on the Church property and contributed one hundred pounds towards the Church building fund. Christian Ruth also gave one hundred pounds. Surely such liberality is worthy of our note. If exercised from a proper motive, liberality to Church, the Kingdom of Grace, is a positive sign of spirituality.

THE PAROCHIAL SCHOOL HOUSE.

The Reformed Church believes in the educational training of the young. In this matter she has always taken great pride. It is for this reason that the original settlers frequently erected a church and a school building side by side. Nor is this all. They were very considerate regarding their "Lehrer und Singmeister." For his comfort and support he was served with a dwelling-house and tract of land. Many of these buildings upon the Church property can still be found in various parts of Eastern Pennsylvania. It was for the purpose of training the mind of the young that the Reformed people of Sinking Spring commenced the erection of a school building on the eleventh day of August, 1804. Though few in number when the Church organization was formed, the membership steadily increased; and feeling the necessity of having their children instructed in the Word of God and the Reformed faith as taught in the Heidelberg Catechism, about ninety members united in the founding of a school. The following were some of the patrons:

John Sharnian, Peter Palm, Sebastian Miller, Daniel Ruth, John Ruth, Jr., Michael Ruth, Peter Ruth, John Huy, Jacob Ludwig, Francis Ruth, Jr., Gottfried Smith, Henry Ruth, George Ruth, Jr., Christian

Hiester, John Miller, Esq., Jacob Hatt, Sr., George Rollman, John Binkley, Francis Krick, Sr., Francis Krick, Jr., John Bollman, Jacob Bollman, Jacob Rieser, Philip Spohn, Adam Spohn, John Rieser, Jacob Hatt, Jr., George Gernand, John Gernand, John Laub, Jacob Lambert, Sr., Mathias Fisher, Jonas Meyer, Adam Reisch, Frederic Ruth, Samuel Filbert, Samuel Schantz, Michael Weitzel, Ulrich Hauder, William Adam, John Hiebner, Joseph Lambert, Peter Lambert, Philip Fisher, Alexandre Seitzinger, John Haberling, Christian Ruth, Mathias Sweitzer, Valentine Straub, Martin Fritz, Daniel Zimmerman, Benjamin Hatt, George Marshall, Jonas Ruth, Solomon Hauder, Emanuel Weinhold, Catharine Gernant, William Maurer, Catharine Ruth, Jacob Hill, Michael Fisher, John Hill, Deitrich Marshall, Christian Baetzal, Christian Gernand, John Adam Ruth, Adam Spohn, Jr., Joseph Hatt, John Ruth, Sr., Nicholas Seitzinger, Peter Krick, John Fisher, Conrad Marshall, Peter Gerhard, Philip Grill, Barbara Bolman, Gottfreid Eberle, Henry Smith, Philip Ruth, John Gaul, Sr., Frederic Weitzel, Sr., John Richard, Christian Eberle.

The building was a log structure, one story high, and cost $379.37½. The building committee were John Sharman and Peter Palm, of whom the latter was treasurer. Some of the receipts given to Peter Palm for money received are still preserved. The following is an example :

"Decem. 8. 1804 Emphangen von Peter Palm vor 705 fuz lathen segen, 10 S. 6 p. JOHN VAN RIED."

The cost of building material was as follows : Lumber, $16 per 1,000 feet ; nails, 12½ cents per pound ; window panes, 7½ cents a piece ; lime, 15 cents per bushel. Laborers received 75 cents a day and board.

Mr. Diehl, John Ock, William Ruth, Frederick Zimmerman and Peter Gerhart were some of the early teachers, who also were the choristers and organists of the church. The school was entirely under the supervision of the Church Council. This school building served for educational purposes until 1850, when the parochial school was abandoned, it having given way to our present public school system, and the building became the dwelling-house of the organist.

ADDITIONS OF LAND.

Realizing that the tract of land donated by Christian Ruth to be insufficient for the convenience of the rapidly-growing congregation, the members decided to secure another tract lying to the east of the church. Accordingly two and one-half (2½) acres were purchased of Peter Ruth for the sum of \$133.33 $\frac{1}{2}$. This was secured by the church officers December 19, 1811, for said congregation. These officers were as follows: Elders—Jacob Ludwig and Michael Moyer; deacons—John Ludwig, Lorentz Matz, William Fisher and Sebastian Miller. It was on this ground that the log school house had already been erected. The dwelling-house of the organist is now located thereon. On December 27, 1828, another addition of 2 acres and 24 perches was made. This was purchased of Elijah Ruth and lies westward of the church. The amount paid was \$99.56. It was secured for the express purpose of a burial ground. The purchasing committee were Francis Ruth, William Palm and Abraham Gernant. The total area of land belonging to the present congregation is 6 acres and 24 perches.

LATER IMPROVEMENT OF THE CHURCH.

Thus far church service was conducted without the aid of a musical instrument; hence in 1817 a large pipe organ was placed into the church. This not only improved the interior appearance of the edifice, but also added greatly to the worship and the life of the church. This organ was built by Openhauser, of Reading, and was, in its time, a magnificent piece of workmanship. On the top, facing the front, was perched a large golden eagle, overshadowing it with its wings. On each side were figures of gilded angels, each blowing a trumpet. The cost of the organ was twelve hundred dollars. Some years later the brick floor was removed and a board floor substituted. Thus far the church had been without a steeple and a bell. Hence in 1851 the congregation appointed a committee consisting of David Marshall, George Ruth and David Gring, who began to receive subscriptions and proceeded to the erection of a tower. The tower is 16 feet square at the base, and 151 feet high, tapering to a point. At its completion appropriate dedicatory services were held October 16, 1852. Rev. William Pauli, the pastor of the congregation, officiated. The entire cost of the tower was $2651.28. Into this tower was placed a bell weighing 1473 pounds. This bell having become damaged, it was replaced by another weighing 1592 pounds in September, 1881. The cost of this latter bell was $509.55.

In 1875 the congregation was presented with a beautiful silver communion set by Mrs. Susanna Krick, of Reading, widow of Daniel Krick, formerly of Sinking Spring. In the presentation of this valuable gift the donor requested that it should be the sole property of the Reformed forever. This gift was accepted by the deacons, Isaac Y. Beidler and Evan R. Hiester, who, in the name of the congregation, drew up the following resolution of thanks:

Originally but one acre was secured for a cemetery. Finding this tract of land too small, the Company purchased several more acres. It has now an area of about four acres. On this cemetery are entombed the bodies of seven hundred and twenty-one souls. The whole number of graves in both church yard and cemetery is sixteen hundred and thirty-two. The average age of the deceased during the past ten years was forty-nine years, one month, and two days. The cemetery is independent of the Church, being under the care of the Company.

And now, as we have briefly traced the external development of the Church, let us in conclusion consider her spiritual growth. The Church having been organized with but fourteen members in 1793, numbers now upwards of five hundred souls. During her existence thousands have been nurtured under her Christian care. Many of those who received spiritual instruction by catechisation and the preaching of the Word, and who have partaken of the Holy Sacraments at her altar, have already fallen asleep, and, we trust, have joined the saintly host around the throne of God. Others have removed to parts remote, many of whom have united with churches where they now reside. Although the Church has seen many adversities, the Lord in His infinite goodness has surely prospered her. The Church has not only grown in membership, but also in spirituality. This fact is proven by the regularity of attendance at regular service and by the great interest manifested in worship. It may be said that the congregation has grown more both numerically and spiritually during the past few years than ever before. And may now God's blessing continue to abide with us until we all enter the Church triumphant, praising and glorifying the Lord our God forever.
